

Northwestern College
Scroll 2001

Farewell to President Willis

Dr. Willis had a heart for the students which was shown by his support for student activities. Rarely did he miss an activity, and students could count on seeing his smiling face located in his reserved house seat only eight rows from the stage in Maranatha Auditorium. His immense popularity amongst students and faculty only heightened the community's sadness when Dr. Willis' abrupt resignation was announced before the school year began. His presence and happy face were greatly missed by many.

--Heather Thompson

DR. WESLEY WILLIS AND HIS WIFE ELAINE WAVE TO THE CROWD IN THE 1999 HOMECOMING PARADE. DR. WILLIS' RESIGNATION RIGHT BEFORE THE 2000-2001 SCHOOL YEAR BEGAN BROUGHT SORROW TO MANY PEOPLE IN THE NORTHWESTERN COMMUNITY.

LEARNING THE BIBLE'S BOOKS, STEP BY STEP

There are 66 books in the Bible, and 66 steps from bottom to top in Nazareth Hall. Coincidence? If so, it was too good a coincidence for Interim President David Erickson to pass up. He ordered signs made for each step, one for each book of the Bible. The signs were placed on the riser for each step, starting with Genesis on the ground floor near the cafeteria, and ending with Revelation at the top of the stairwell, near Erickson's office. The signs are made to coordinate with the coloring of the stairs, and make it easy to review the order of books of the Bible while trudging up the stairs each day. "We're going to make better use of our time going up the steps," he said.

David Erickson, interim president, holds signs he had made for steps in a Nazareth Hall stairwell.

WHAT WAS YOUR FAVORITE MEMORY?

"There have been too many fun memories with friends to pick just 'one,' but a recent highlight was a road trip to Chicago during which two friends got engaged!"

--Jesse Anderson

"I loved most every moment at Northwestern. I especially enjoyed late-night conversations with my roommate and South Campus prank wars."

--Sarah Anderson

"We took our bedsheets and a guitar out to the island, snuck through the brush, and tried to camp out. Security shined their flashlights on our party, so we moved to the sidewalk in front of the dorms. An hour later, the 'Red Shirts' called us 'unkosher.'"

--Mathias Baden

"Camping out with my best friend in the Riley Hall parking lot in November and getting questioned by the security shack personnel."

--Sarah Beeh

"Rainbow Runs and Snow Angels!"

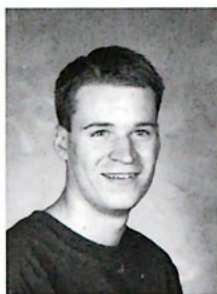

--Kimberly Berliner

"Spring break mission trips and spending mornings at Caribou and Bruegger's!"

--Jennifer Boyce

"Matt peed in my bed!"

WHAT WAS YOUR FAVORITE MEMORY?

"The football games and road trips (with the girls and on the bus...), GNO, and an engagement to Andrew Anderson--my very best friend."

--Kendra Carlson

"The awesome fellowship with my brothers and sisters in Christ."

--Jim Dietz

"Dr. Black's white elephant parties--so fun!"

--Laurie Dixon

"Watching Dr. Aling eat his first and last pixie stick at the Globe theatre in London. Sheep stalking with Melody and Cyndi at Fountains Abbey. Talking with my 'sister' Jill about everything and anything."

--Kitty Egeland

"The lunch table: 12 guys, no girls allowed. The last row of chapel. Playing in the snow with Vanessa and Heidi. Halloween party 2000 at Captain Black's. Mr. Elfstrum's Cost class. Party at Kuivinen's. The cold ocean on the Mexican mission trip. Running out of the library with Elo, Vanessa, and Heidi."

--Hector Fernandez

WHAT WAS YOUR FAVORITE MEMORY?

"Singing in the College Choir at 'Christmas at Northwestern.'"

--Sarah Flint

"In the fall of my junior year, I went to Atlanta, GA, with the Column editors for the ACP/CMA National College Media Convention. We stayed in the Peachtree Plaza, the second tallest hotel in the world. We had pillow fights every night. We did a lot of sight-seeing, as well, such as to the 'World of Coca-Cola' museum. Have you ever tasted Coke from other countries?"

--Karen Franze

"Spending every day (almost) in chapel from 10:30-11:00! What a blessing chapel was and will continue to be for the students and faculty of NWC."

--Dinah Frey

"My spring break trip in March 1999. Twelve friends and I rented a 15-passenger van and drove down to Pensacola, FL, to visit the Brownsville Assembly of God church located there. On the way down we ministered to people wherever we stopped. While there, we relaxed and spent a lot of quality bonding time. It was a great experience filled with many memories."

WHAT WAS YOUR FAVORITE MEMORY?

"All my times spent with my good friends, from just talking and hanging out to being crazy in the dorms."

--Jenni Greener

"Traveling in Europe with the College Choir my freshman year."

--Heather Herr

"My favorite memory is from my first year here at NWC. I remember our service project during orientation. It was great to see everybody team up and help a worthy cause. I know it really blessed the people in the organization we helped."

--Benjamin Hagenbuch

"The many opportunities given to me to serve at Hospitality House and Kinship of Greater Minnesota, as well as, all the great times with the Northwestern tennis team."

--Aaron Hjermstad

"I have two, 1) getting the blessed opportunity to live with my best friend my senior year...so many laughs, and 2) getting engaged to the man of my dreams."

--Renee Hoffman

"Winning Moyer Open House my sophomore year with the girls--Mod Bod Quad!!"

--Amber Jacobson

"Singing in Male Chorus--the tour to Duluth."

--Mike Jahnke

WHAT WAS YOUR FAVORITE MEMORY?

"My favorite memory at NWC is being able to be an RA. My hall is so much fun. My girls have really made my last year here a blessing. Also, another awesome blessing has been the quality friendships I have made. Friends are so priceless--value every moment."

--Christina John

"I recall the nights that I spent with friends planning pranks and daring escapades. I also remember the fun I had playing ultimate frisbee on Maranatha lawn."

--Jason Johnson

"'Beaning' Corey Mitchell, Carsten Christensen, Chris Pickering, and Jeromy Emerling's apartment junior year. I hear they are still uncovering beans!"

--Mandy Johnson

"Choir tours, Twister Tournament, and fun times in Quad II."

--Carrie Kauphusman

"Making friendships that will last a lifetime."

--Katie Knechtly

"I have so many memories as a freshman staying up late into the evening. The Student Center was the place to look for future 'prospects.' I will never forget the friends I have made at NWC!"

WHAT WAS YOUR FAVORITE MEMORY?

"The dozens of men and women of God on the faculty and staff who, over the years, have invested worthy words, helping hearts, and fruitful fervor into the development of my sanctification, His worship, and the Great, Perilous Journey of Cross-Carrying,"

--Sean Larson

"Elizabeth Munns best summed it up, 'You four girls make more memories in a year than most people make in a lifetime.' They're all my favorite."

--Annie Lohan

"Getting in ALL the towers in one night and playing with the NWC security."

--Josh Martin

"Friendships with Beth, Sarah, Tara, and Erica. Most of all, I got to meet and room with my best friend Caryann."

--Kathy Matheson

"Playing on the women's soccer team for two years, and developing those special relationships with those wonderful women. Going to South Dakota with the team and nearly making it to Nationals. Growing mature in the Lord with a Godly team of great women."

--Shannon McCaw

WHAT WAS YOUR FAVORITE MEMORY?

"Twice a friend and I tried to spend the night in Naz chapel. Our freshman year we got caught by the security guard. The second time we tried it, we were nearly caught and we thought we were locked in the balcony. And then there was the hall activity--going skinny-dipping."

--Martha Meier

"Meeting up with all my friends at the corner by the copy machine in the mail center everyday after chapel. I felt amazingly happy there with them. And also having a 'special park' to go to with my pals. And making a strange man kiss the wall in the mail center? It was me."

--Andrea Moran

"Second and third quarter, sophomore year in Moyer with Annie L., Lauren B., Amanda D., Heather M., Natalie H., Laura A., and Noelle N. Thanks for the great year and many memories girls!!"

--Asia Nielsen

"The life-long friends that I have made and the many endless nights in the Student Center my freshman year--hanging out with what seemed like the entire freshman class."

WHAT WAS YOUR FAVORITE MEMORY?

"Lying on a blanket and reading by the pond. I also spent many evenings walking the path around Lake Johanna by the waterfall."

--Alicia Osborne-Murphy

"Life-changing conversations that I had with close friends, and being CRAZY with my friends and especially my roommates."

--Sarah Petersohn

"Meeting the amazing people God has brought into my life and given to me as lifelong friends."

--Sarah Peterson

"My favorite memory would definitely be going around the world with twenty students who have now become some of my closest friends. I love you guys!"

--Renae Perreault

"I would have to say living with the same roommate for four years along with all the incomparable aspects of dorm-life. Isn't there a scholarship available for roommate longevity?"

--Sarah Porter

"Living at Hillside East with 'the gang.'"

--Lyndsay Pladson

"So, so many! I could write a novel! Every opportunity to meet new people and hear their experiences and where the Lord is taking them. The NWC community is rich in deep people seeking after God."

--Jason Pucker

WHAT WAS YOUR FAVORITE MEMORY?

"In the spring of 2000, one evening my three roommates and I played touch football in the South Campus parking lot until one in the morning."

--Taylor Quinn

"Meeting all my friends and spending time with them. Going to Rio Bravo, Mexico on a missions trip and staying two extra days with some others because we all couldn't fit on the plane."

--Melissa Redfield

"My roommate and I were in the Eagle's Nest one afternoon. I had ordered a hamburger and then went to a table to wait for my name to be called. Shortly thereafter my roommate's name was bellowed from the kitchen, but I still continued to wait expectantly for my name. Occasionally we would hear someone say 'hamburger,' but I was listening so intently for my name that I didn't even notice. Finally I got up to see if my hamburger was ready and sure enough it was sitting on the window ledge. As I walked over to get it, one of the cooks looked out and said to me, 'I've been calling your name for a while now.' To this day my roommate still calls me 'hamburger.'"

"Dissection is used in science class to illustrate the design that God has for each organism..." Dr. Beilby

It's Monday Afternoon...

You gather around the lab tables, and realize it's dissection week in Biology. You think back to the 1999-2000 school year and the rumors of the Op Serve crew opening up a garbage can and finding cat heads looking up. Oh no, not another year of cat heads...

Students all have different feelings about dissection. Has there ever been a positive comment about dissection? So much more Jordan Moffitt remembers the cats coming in little vacuum packed bags. Once those bags are opened, the scent of formaldehyde fills the air. "It's just gross," Jordan says.

Dr. Beilby, chair of the Science and Mathematics Department, feels very strongly that dissection is a clear way to see God's design for His creation. How else would we know how amazing God's creation was? Imagine that you are exploring through an animal's organs and you see the intricate way that everything fits together; how everything is connected and still fits in such a compact space. Could YOU put something that amazing together?

By SUSIE PICKENS

TOP LEFT: THE KNEE BONE'S CONNECTED TO THE LEG BONE... Dr. Beilby, chair of the Science and Mathematics Department, and Dr. Simat hold a meeting over lunch.

TOP RIGHT: I'M TELLING YOU, I KNOW IT'S SODIUM CHLORIDE... Students meet in the lab to discuss results of an experiment.

RIGHT: AH, THE JOYS OF CHEMISTRY... "This might be the structure for hydrogen but maybe it's water...I just don't know!!"

RIGHT: ARE YOU SURE THIS EQUATION CAN BE SOLVED?? Students wait outside Dr. Zderad's office for some help on their math homework.

EXHIBITING A PASSION TO KNOW GOD
THROUGH HIS CREATION

EXHIBITING A PASSION TO KNOW GOD THROUGH HIS WORD

THE ULTIMATE MAJOR...

One of the unique features of NWC is that every student who begins as a freshman will graduate with a major in their chosen field as well as in Bible. One may think that all this focus on Bible study could serve to make the Bible common and dull, but instead it feeds the passion that drives this student body to be more like Jesus.

A Little Known Fact...

...all see Dr. Martin encouraging students every day in running the Christian race, but did you know that Dr. Martin participated in a very different kind of race long ago? In his younger days, Dr. Martin appeared on a Canadian National Television Program called Truth or Consequences. During the course of the program, Dr. Martin had to dress up in an old fashioned swim suit and race another man across the pool in order to win a kiss from the beautiful mermaid. Sounds easy, right? The only 'catch' was that Mrs. Martin was 'reeling' Dr. Martin in as he was trying to swim across the pool. Mrs. Martin was given a fishing pole that was rigged to a harness Dr. Martin was wearing and her job was to keep Dr. Martin from reaching the mermaid. So, how did Dr. Martin fare? Did he overcome all obstacles and win the race? That mystery I will leave for you, my friend, to solve on your own.

OH CANADA!!...Christian Ministries Chair Dr. Martin shows his true colors in a recent interview. Dr. Martin grew up in the farming community of Woodstock, Ontario.

HE SERVED HIS LORD WITH PASSION...

In an interview with Dr. Martin, it was apparent how much this man loves the Lord and studying the Bible. When Dr. Martin was asked what his favorite thing about NWC was, he said it was to get students turned on to the Bible and to teach them how to apply the Scriptures for themselves. When asked what he would like to be remembered for, Dr. Martin replied simply, "He served his Lord with passion." As we focus on this year's theme of One Passion, let's follow Dr. Martin's example and become people who serve God with passion no matter where life takes us.

Claim

By: JON CARLSON, SENIOR

High on the granite banks of the St. Croix River,
I stand a million miles tall.
The brown river below churns, swirls,
pulses...
pushes its way past
the stone that walls it in.

Autumn touches the trees,
yellowed poplar, cedar and pine anchored in splitting the granite,
accomplices with the river.

Amazement churns in me,
wonder at these trees
that can reach down into stone,
crack it open,
siphon out life.

I'm awed by this river,
so persuasive, constantly coercing
this thick gray rock to give way
wearing on the stone,
drop by rushing drop
until curves and wells are carved,
the forms of watery force.

I could try to block this river, drop myself from these hundred feet of jutting granite,

falling headlong to meet the St. Croix.
Only to be disregarded,
swallowed in the same froth
that overpowered this stone, flesh seeming so much less.

Whitman said he was these:
particle and molecule,
pebble and drop,
of this stone and this river.
He claimed he was the power resisted,
the power overcoming.

I question him,
his grandiose claim.
How was he part of this stone,
part of this river?
He never did explain.

A million miles high,
I breathe the stratosphere
far above the water and stone of Whitman's claim.

I make a claim
a million times more marvelous,
backed by the Strength
that packed this stone, that sent this St. Croix river charging through granite.
This Strength I claim,
my muscled heart,
my thick, pulsing veins.

New Faculty

Here's a look at the new faculty members that joined NWC this year.

DR. PAUL CHARA

Dr. Chara and his wife Kathleen have four children: Christian, Karston, Kristof, and Kristiana. One of the research projects Dr. Chara is currently involved in is studying the psychological and spiritual legacy experienced by the survivors of his father's ship sunk off Okinawa in 1945.

DR. GARY NOGGLE

Dr. Noggle and his wife, Mary, have four children. Dr. Noggle describes the working environment here at NWC as "a little bit of heaven here on earth."

DR. KAREN TANGEN

Dr. Tangen spent most of her career in the business world working for Fortune 100 companies. Her constant prayer is to give her very best to help the students here at NWC prepare for the world which they will encounter upon graduation.

DR. BOYD SEEVERS

He and his wife Karen have four children: Joshua, Rachel, Jonathan, and Rebecca. In the past, Dr. Seevers has worked as an assistant pastor. He and his family also served for eight years as tentmaker missionaries in Israel.

DR. JONATHAN ZDERAD

Dr. Zderad grew up in the Saint Paul area and was well acquainted with NWC growing up. He looks forward to actively integrating his faith into his teaching here at the college as well as in his daily interactions with the students.

DR. JAMES RAGO

Dr. Rago moved to Minnesota in the summer of 1994 to attend graduate school at the University of Minnesota. He received his Ph.D. in the summer of 1999 and did post-doctoral work at the U's Cancer Center. Since being hired at NWC, he has enjoyed getting to know the school, the peers, and the students better.

DAVID ORTON

Mr. Orton and his wife, Heather, keep busy with their daughter, Hallie. Before being hired at NWC, Mr. Orton worked for the Guthrie Theater as a technical director for the Minnesota Opera.

College Republicans

The College Republicans had a busy election year. When they weren't busy with the homecoming parade, phone banking, distributing signs and literature, they were busy "winning and dining with the rich and famous," at the Republican National Convention, according to College Republican member, Shannon Fiecke. (Don't worry -- no real wine was involved!) At the National Convention, some members were able to meet George W. Bush, and Fiecke was interviewed on C-Span and other national news. The morning of election day, club members positioned themselves at intersections in the Twin Cities, encouraging everyone to go out and vote. By evening they were at the Radisson Hotel in Saint Paul with the candidates, other politicians and the media waiting for the results. (No, the election night party did not last until December). The party was a great reward for the members after all their hard work with the election.

Student Services

Story written by: Jana Hurlbut

Jon Hodges has been involved with student services for for years and currently serves as the Head Delta. He wants the students to know that the job of the Deltas, which are more commonly known to the students as the, "red shirts," is to protect the students. "One time I had to chase down a suspicious person who was hanging around campus," he admitted. But late night "chase downs" are rare and Jon mostly enjoys getting to know his fellow students who hang around the dorms. He says that the job of the Delta is "like a night time RA," and he likes to spend his late night shift interacting with the people on campus.

Political Science Club and History Club

Story by: Leah Brush
Photos by Kari Heebink

The Political Science Club is a group of students who have an interest in politics and government. The club's goal is to give students opportunities to be involved politically and to increase non-partisan political awareness on campus. Because 2000 was an election year the group was busy preparing for Election Day. Prior to Election Day, the club held a mock election for the students, faculty and staff (all of whom overwhelmingly voted Republican). On Election Day they arranged for vans to take students to vote. Kari Heebink, a member of the Political Science Club, was very happy with the participation on Election Day. "It was exciting to see all the Northwestern students flooding into Centennial United Methodist Church to vote on Election Day!", she said. "There was a good turnout and things ran smoothly."

Circle K

Story by Kristina Kiefer

New to the campus this year, Circle K was introduced to the students by John Gaede and Damian Waite. Circle K is an international branch of Kiwanis. The college group has three goals in mind. They want to serve our community, get our school involved in the community, and help students develop leadership skills, as well as fellowship with each other. This group went trick or treating on Halloween this year, and asked for canned food items instead of treats. The canned goods were donated to the Marie Sandvek Center to be distributed to those who need it. They were involved in gift distribution to the public at Christmas time, and have spent time playing Bingo at a local nursing home. They are also in the process of helping the St. Paul City Church work on their building until good weather comes around, when they can participate in the church's tradition to help people in the community with odd jobs. Although the group started only with members John Gaede and Damian Waite, their numbers increased to fifteen people the first semester, and approximately thirty members after recruitment of students on Club Day. John's favorite thing about the group is the opportunity to help our community, and getting to know students as they plan their next community service project.

CIRCLE K WANTS YOU: John Gaede and Damian Waite earnestly recruit students as they pass the table on Club Day in lower level Naz. Games and trivia questions attracted passersby. Students could earn treats if they had the right answer -- or the right knack for a game.

The Racial and Ethnic Diversity on Campus (REDOC) office opened to encourage recruitment and retention of students of color and support for international students and students of missionary parents. The REDOC office offers clubs for the students to have times of discussion, bible study, and prayer, as well as, social activities. The mission statement of the REDOC office is as follows:

"TO PROMOTE UNITY IN OUR COLLEGE COMMUNITY, PARTICULARLY WITH RESPECT TO ISSUES OF RACIAL, CULTURAL AND ETHNIC DIVERSITY."

The REDOC office also sponsors the REDOC retreat in September and attends the national Christian Multicultural Student Leaders Conference in November. The three clubs combine for several activities throughout the school year and, of course, the annual Christmas party.

Members of Streetlight Ministries are devoted to evangelism within the Twin Cities. They donate their Friday nights to making and distributing sandwiches to people that are living on the streets. They meet and pray before heading out into the city, where they try to meet people's physical and spiritual hunger. Members always travel in groups for safety purposes. Streetlight is an excellent opportunity for a miniature missions trip, for those who would like to get a taste for ministering to the needy.

THE COLUMN

In the spring of 2000, the Northwestern College Column went from being a biweekly newspaper to weekly publication. In the 2000-2001 school year, the Column built on that progress, switching to a weekly publication schedule in the middle of the first semester, rather than waiting until spring.

They also saw advances in technology, including a faster printer that cuts production time, revised network use procedures that had eliminated system crashes, and a CD-burner that gave the staff a high-tech way to deliver the paper to the press. Internet delivery of newspaper layouts to the press is on the horizon.

A highlight of the year for the members of the newspaper's senior staff was the trip to Washington, D.C. for a journalism conference. The staff went to the conference hoping to learn ways to improve the quality of the Column--and possibly to run for George W. Bush.

Guardian Angels

The Guardian Angels club gave students the chance to sign up for specific faculty and staff member to encourage and pray for them throughout the school year. The revealing party at the end of the school year, was when the faculty or staff member found out who was their angel. Being a guardian angel was the opportunity for students to thank the faculty for all their hard work and the time they put into teaching. When asked what was one of the highlights being involved in guardian angels, Christina John said, "... seeing how God uses small acts done by students to show his love to faculty and staff members."

Student Mission Fellowship

Written by Stephanie Krueger

The Student Mission Fellowship (SMF) came off a year from raising the most money ever. The groups goal for the year was $35,000. The money raised went to support student mission trips, primarily sponsored by SMF. According to Laura Danek, SMF prayer and devotional coordinator, "We seek to communicate the great commission as a role that Jesus gave for all of us. To make disciples of all nations and encourage people to serve and find their role in that now. People don't realize tht doesn't necessarily mean leaving the country, at all, it could be befriending your immigrant neighbor, it could mean praying, it could mean giving, it could mean going, it might be supporting someone who is going, or it could be a combination. we encourage the student body..."catch the vision." the group planned to send teams to florida, california, hati, guatemala, mexico and east asia. the group also co-sponsored urbana with nwsa. smf also holds weekly prayer meetings.

IMPROVERS ANONYMOUS

Improver Anonymous was a place where students could get together and learn the art of comedy improvisation. According to Improvers Anonymous member Michael Hadley, "Improvers Anonymous exists to allow for an environment where the art of comedy can be discovered, learned and expressed via improv games, scenes, and fly-by-the-seat-of-your-pants humor. Put simply, we are a group of people who enjoy getting together and making ourselves laugh." At Improv practice a lot of crazy and funny things were bound to happen. Hadley said, "Whenever Jon Henderson plays Fabio, it is bound to get interesting." Improvers Anonymous played at churches and youth group gatherings. They also had the chance to perform on campus a few times.

■■■■ 2000 ■■■■ Orientation

Students joined together to begin a new school year with the theme One Passion. The theme comes for Psalm 73:25-26. Each new student was placed in a group and the groups worked together in fun, service, and faith to promote One Passion on campus and in the community.

TOGETHER IN SERVICE

Betsy Fetter, Katherine Wells, Jesse Groth Olson, and Heather Herr wait for the buses to arrive to leave for the new student orientation service projects. The groups served in a variety of areas.

FRESHMAN SERVING

Three freshmen paint a building together for their new student service project. The service projects varied from pulling weeds to going to the State Fair with a kids' club.

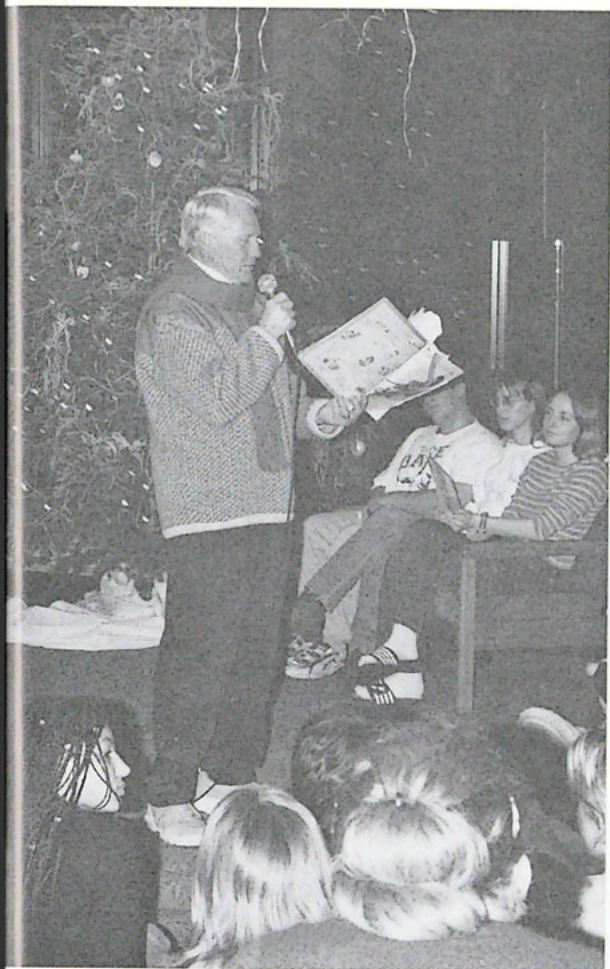

CALLING FOR ALL CAFE GRAY: New student group leader Betsy Fetter calls out to rally her group to her side. Fetter led a group of freshmen. The group went together on their community service project.

It's beginning to look a lot like Christmas

No other holiday gets quite as much attention at Northwestern College as Christmas. From concerts and Christmas tree lighting to open houses and room decorating contests, the Christmas spirit reigned on campus. Of course, students didn't actually celebrate Christmas on campus -- by the time Dec. 25 rolled around the finals were done and everybody was home with family or visiting friends. But the weeks leading up to Christmas were a joyous celebration of God's great gift to mankind -- His Son, Jesus Christ.

STICK 'EM UP: Rachel Fahlberg really throws herself into the dorm door decorating contest.

GETTIN' A LITTLE "MISTY"

Sophomore Chad Folkestad won the evening's competition. He gave a colorful performance on the piano, and entertained the crowd with his spontaneous jokes. Folkestad dedicated his song to his non-existent "special someone."

3 GUYS AND NO WOMAN

Freshmen Chris Banker, Chris Taylor and Matt Ling formed a group to sing at the talent show. The men sang "No Woman, No Cry."

LADY LIBERTY

The emcees of the evening, Senior Erin Schroeder and Junior Jesse GrothOlson, portrayed various personas in the search of the world's most talented people. Their characters ranged from hotdog vendors to gangsters.

BAGPIPE BONANZA

Sophomore Sean McRoberts jams on the bagpipes. He played along with another bagpiper and three drummers. The group snagged second place in the talent show.

IT'S SOON TO BE EATEN BY VEGGIES!

Freshman Krista Lundberg, Brook Tuma and Senior Kevin Johnson discuss dinner options. Later the group was invaded by vegetable-eating vegetables. The RA skit was an annual tradition at the Variety Show.

BRIDE CHICK OR DIVA?

The lovely bride along with her group 3-Peat strutted their stuff in a rendition of the Dixie Chicks' song about running away. The "brides" ran away with the crowd's applause.

Fall Talent Show

Students show "one passion" with their God-given talents

Skits, song, and silliness was the theme of the night for the Northwestern fall talent show held September 14 in a packed Maranatha Auditorium.

A wide variety of talents was displayed by the 40 participants. The participants varied their talents from numerous musical performances to one-of-a-kind skits. Each participant had a unique style that represented the theme of the night of finding the most talented people in the world.

Freshman Patty Drew said, "I was impressed with the quality of the performances and the variety."

"THE EXTENDED LIFESTYLE STATEMENT"

Juniors Carrie Logan and Jen Bergren creatively interpreted the lifestyle statement. The girls gave a top ten list of the "controversial" rules on campus. The two won third place which was $75 to the campus store.

Purple and gold pride runs deep on campus

seniors triumph in Powderpuff

An annual tradition was continued Tuesday of Homecoming week as women from all classes took to the field for powderpuff football. All the teams fought hard, but the seniors took home the gold. The championship was played by the juniors and the seniors. At the end of the first half, the sky was black and both teams were struggling to see the ball. The final score was 15-14.

Miss Northwestern now M & M

The Miss Northwestern contest got a major face-lift this year. NWSA decided to attempt to change the pageantry image of Miss NWC by cancelling the presentation and altering the selection process. The upper classes nominated five men and five women for the first time. Each student was sent a biography on the candidates. Mike Thate and Elizabeth Hinnicutt were named M & M.

homecoming victory over crown

The Northwestern football team won a trip to the Victory Bowl with a Homecoming victory, national championship, over Crown College.

The Eagles had a 44-0 lead at halftime. The final score was 50-7.

Senior quarterback Jeff Waggoner threw for 111 yards in the first half, including a 56-yard touchdown pass to wide receiver Mike Thate. Thate, playing in his last career college football game, finished with 124 receiving yards and two touchdowns.

Although the total net yards for both teams was close, the Eagles managed to convert on many more offensive plays for the convincing win. The crowd and the entire Eagles team rejoiced together when the announcement was made that this victory and an undefeated season would send the Eagles to their first ever Victory Bowl.

The Rock Rocks!

The Rock, which could appropriately be called Northwestern's announcement board, was used to display special news of every variety for the whole campus to see. Whether it was a birthday to announce, an engagement to celebrate, or encouragement for people to get out and vote, the rock was the best place to post it so that everybody would know what was going on.

WIRING THE CAMPUS

Blue wires streaming from one end of campus to the other...literally. What have all these blue wires had to contribute to the lives of the students here at Northwestern? These wires mean that Northwestern College students are moving forward toward the new era of technology. Faster computer internet hook-ups, easier research techniques, and a network connecting the entire campus.

At the beginning of the school year, students who moved into South Campus found wires hanging out of the walls in many different areas, but by November the technicians were finished most of the computer jacks there. "It's really nice. Having networks throughout the campus means faster hook-up, even faster than in the computer labs." commented Kirstjen Peters.

Jobs On Campus

We often took for granted the people who made Northwestern look great. While some of us had a hard time keeping our rooms tidy, others among us had the job of keeping our school looking tidy. For example, no one knew a vacuum better than senior Peter Morel. Peter worked for Operational Services and spent his weekday afternoons cleaning up the halls of South and Southeast residences. Tristan Fischer, a 1998 graduate, was a supervisor with the Op Serv team, and she said that the best part about the job was interacting with the students who worked for Op Serv. Tristan also appreciated her employers. She said, "The bosses are a God-send. They're wonderful and cleaning things suddenly doesn't seem that bad! I look at the job as a service and ministry to others more than just cleaning."

If service was what you craved, you may have wanted to apply at the Eagle's Nest. A 1999 student, Lucas Carey, said that he loved being a chef at the Nest. "Cooking is a blast here!" But when a student, Aaron Popkes was asked what he liked best about working in the Eagle's Nest, he said "The pants!"

Although the Nest did have pretty hip black and white checkered pants, they just couldn't compare to the polyester tuxedo pants that the Blue Room workers got to "sport." About twenty-one students were employed in Blue Room. This year, the new manager, Paula Yankus, was thrilled to be a part of the Bon Appetit staff. "You students are so fun!" Though the students may have been fun, there is always room for more to join in on--the many employment opportunities on campus.

To the Regions Beyond, I must Go, I must Go!

The India Trip undertook a cross-cultural ministry across the world when they traveled over seas October 19-December 20. The team was comprised of Rich Biery, Amy Enerson, Jennifer Johnson, Joanna Merritt, Ben Wood, Angie Arthur, Jason Berg, Laurie Campbell, Amy Ferris, Mike Thate, Karly Zufall, Stephanie Buck, Sabrina Hudson, Wendy Loge, Brian Mork, Adam Tippery, Matt Jackson, Kristy Lindquist, Cari Logan, Jesse Nykanen, Leah Sedler, and team leaders Naomi Bloom and Dr. John Easterling.

After a briefing in Chicago, the team traveled to London where they worked with the Highbury Baptist Church and learned from missionaries about Islam and Hinduism. The group then went to Bombay, Pune, and Nasrapur, India where they did work projects and visited village churches in the area. The group spent the next week in New Delhi, India, visiting churches and youth groups. Next was Bangkok, Thailand, where they worked with church planting and teaching English as a Second Language. The next four days were spent elsewhere in Southeast Asia working with Chinese churches, learning about ministry to Muslims, and participating in prayer walks. The team continued on doing friendship evangelism in Beijing, China before heading to Honolulu for de-briefing.

Sophomore Wendy Loge said, "Overall, I learned more in the two months spent on this trip than I could anywhere else given the same frame of time. The experiences were once-in-a-lifetime."

All work and no play makes a dull student. That's why there's...

Downtime

Although spiritual development and serious academic pursuits are, of course, the focus of every Northwestern student's life, that doesn't mean there isn't time to take a break. Campus recreation takes many forms. There's the eternal Frisbee football game, played on the lawn in front of Maranatha until the snow flies. Lounges with televisions are the perfect place for deep theological discussions about the theological significance of "The Simpsons." And throughout the campus are plenty of places to just get together and hang out. College life gives rise to friendships that will last a lifetime -- and they often start during "downtime."

TAKING IT EASY: (counterclockwise from right)
OUTDOOR DINING: In warmer months, the Naz courtyard is a great place to share lunch and catch up with friends.
MAIL CALL: Ben Wood hopes for good news in the day's mail.
SPLISH SPLASH: The fountain is a great place to take a deep breath and relax.
SPORTS: Matt Davison tests his strength against Adrienne Frank.
FRISBEE FUN: For students like Nate Addink, Frisbee football is not just a sport -- it's a way of life.

AND THAT STANDS FOR POOL: Denley Vennes lines up a shot on one of the pool tables which were moved to the main floor of the Student Center. The move made the tables more accessible, and much busier.

CHILLIN' AFTER CHAPEL: A daily chapel service brings students together, and the time after chapel is good for catching up with friends.

FROSTY THE FRESHMAN: The cold doesn't bother this happy snowman, but how he climbed up onto that balcony is a mystery.

LEAF US ALONE: Tony Rojas, Peggy Reese and Ariel Harms find a cozy hiding place in the fall.

STRUMMING TIME AWAY

Visitation hours in Hartill and Knutson were experimentally expanded to include some evenings during the school week.

SPEAKING OF DORM LIFE

Students experienced weekly cleaning inspections in Hartill, Knutson, and Moyer and bi-monthly inspections in South, Southeast, and Snelling Terrace.

DORM LIFE

HOMEWORK BYTES

Dorm rooms were a great place to do homework--especially if someone in the room owned a computer. The Board of Trustees made the decision that all students by the 2002 school year would have to own a computer.

SPLISH, SPLASH

Both Hartill and Knutson residences and Snelling Terrace residents enjoyed the luxury of being able to jump in a pool, pretty much any time they wanted to.

LOUNGING AROUND

Because no televisions were allowed in the rooms in the Hartill and Knutson residences, there was often people watching their favorite shows in the t.v. lounges. The t.v. lounge in the student center was popular, although it was noisy, because guys and girls could watch the television there with each other.

SUPER LAUNDRY MAN

On Saturdays you could find the laundry rooms full of students doing their laundry. It was sometimes difficult to find a washer or dryer that worked as well as the students wished, but the college kept the prices low so that if a person's clothes were not dry the first time around they could just put in some more quarters (or hang them all around their rooms).

DISHING IT UP

The dorm rooms in Hartill and Knutson each had their own kitchenettes for students to store and prepare food, as well as, wash dishes. Normally the rooms housed three students, but because of an increase in incoming students many of the rooms started out the year with four students per room.

Commuting becomes more common Drive-by Learners

Commuter students become an increasingly important part of Northwestern's student body. Although the college saw record enrollment in the 2000-2001 school year, limited dormitory space meant that many of those students were commuters. In fact, about 40 percent of Northwestern's student body commuted to classes.

Another change directed at commuters was the opening of a new commuter lounge in the ground floor of Nazareth Hall. Jeff Snyder, dean of commuter life and transitional services, explained, "Students are busy and can't afford to waste time, and commuters are a long way from home, so they need a place to help them utilize the time when they're not in classes. They can use it to study, rest, visit with friends, have lunch, or just do some of the things they would do in their apartment if they were closer to campus."

The lounge featured comfortable seating, lunch tables, telephones and computer jacks which could be used to connect to the college network. "It's designed with commuter students in mind, but it's open to all students," said Snyder.

Other features of commuter life included a monthly newsletter for commuter students, and Snyder's weekly "commuter cars" contest, where students whose cars were photographed and posted on Snyder's bulletin board had a chance to win prizes. Still on the drawing board: remote computer access to the campus network servers.

You'll take care of me.

In an unusual way, Rolf (played by sophomore Ryan U.) declares his love to Liesl (sophomore Sara Olson) and promises to take care of her. In reality, Sara has come to Northville knowing that God will take care of her. She has no career plans; she only knows that she is supposed to be learning about what she loves most: God.

With a childlike attitude.

Dressed in their traveling clothes, Louisa and Gretchen von Trapp (played by local children) prepare to leave their homeland while their Uncle Max (played by senior Peter Johnson) looks on. Peter enjoyed spending time with all of the children "because [he] got to be a kid, too. It is fun to revert back to earlier days, for a little while."

God bless what's-his-name.

The newest governess, Maria (played by sophomore Hannah Nelson) spends time on her knees asking to bless each of the children. Hannah spends a great deal of her time on her voice lessons preparing for the future. She hopes to teach voice lessons in a college setting and dreams of someday performing professionally.

Love is in the air.

Maria and Captain von Trapp (sophomore Hannah Nelson and senior Taylor Quinn) share a dance during a party. It was later in the musical that they openly admitted their love for one another with a kiss. This was a huge moment in Taylor's life as well; it was his first kiss.

You can't run away from your heart.

When Maria, (sophomore Hannah Nelson) comes running back to the
Abbey, the Mother Abbess
(played by senior Sarah Wind) tries to discover the reason for her sudden return. Maria had run away because she was afraid she was falling in love. The Mother Abbess challenged Maria with the fact that she may not belong in the Abbey.
Maria gave in to her heart, returned, and was later married to the Captain.

Did you know?
The Sound of Music
was based on a true
story of the Trapp Family Singers. The
von Trapp children
are still alive and
own a large ski resort in Vermont.

Top: It's all about priorities.

Discussing wealth is a favorite pastime of both Max and Elsa (played by seniors Peter Johnson and Alicia Sawyer). However, the actors have much different things on their minds away from the stage. Alicia wants to teach music, but may continue with schooling first. Peter wants to continue acting and will work "anywhere they'll hire [him]."

Bottom: All children need time to play.

Wearing playclothes, made from drapes in Maria's bedroom, the von Trapp children sing "The Hills are Alive" for the Baroness Elsa Schraeder (senior Alicia Sawyer). Alicia and the younger children played and worked many hours during rehearsals. She helped them with their homework and braided the girls' hair upon request.

EXTENSION MINISTRIES

1. SKITS AND MORE SKITS.

The Improv Group, including junior Matt Jackson, performs in the Blue Room for the college audience. This group's purpose was to have a good time while presenting their skits.

2. THE IMPROV GROUP

L to R: Adrienne Wiebe, Calvin Worthen, Aaron White, Sarah Brace, Jon Henderson, Bryan Schmidt, Mike Hadley, Peter Johnson, Nicole Sibley, Drew Govier, Laura DenHartog, Jenica Schoepp

3. INNER CALLING

4. HARMONIOUS MEN.

These men sing for the audience in the Blue Room. This sextet's music involved various harmony parts and seemed to be enjoyed by the varied audiences.

A PASSION TO MINISTER

When visiting churches and other Christian organizations, the Extension Ministries teams use vocal, instrumental, and dramatic talents as tools to communicate with the audience in their performances and testimonies. Larry Medcalfe, director of church relations, heads up the various groups. He says "these are more than concert groups; they are ministry teams." They all strive to "communicate the mission of Northwestern and the ministry of Jesus Christ" to their audiences. He hopes they are seeking to glorify God, as well as encouraging the audiences in their own faith walks by relating "how Christ is working in their lives at Northwestern."

Each of the students involved makes a large time commitment to be a part of this ministry. They are on the road several weekends out of the school year, and some locations are up to 200 miles away.

2. IN ONE ACCORD

Performing in the Blue Room are sophomores Diana Jobe and Andy Bohnsack. This group has grown to truly portray the name, Accord. They have fun when they get together, so much so that often they have a hard time getting their practice started!

3. ACCORD

Front Row: Megan Nyffeler, Diana Jobe Back Row: Jim Wilcox, Andy Bohnsack, Nathan Statezni

EXTENSION MINISTRIES

"I really hope that participating in Extension Ministries will not only minister to the people we play for, but also to those playing - to build one another up in Christ."

Deborah Porter, sophomore
Groove Merchants

"This is a good opportunity to get out and visit and minister to other churches. I get to share my love for Christ while playing my trumpet."

Diana Jobe,
sophomore,
Accord

Accord had smooth performances until they arrived at one small church, only to discover they didn't have enough music stands. No problem on their part though; they simply improvised with the organ bench and an instrument case.

1. CHALLENGED BY A PASSION

Individuals of the Jazz Combo junior Brandon Wind and sophomore Deborah Porter, use their passion for music to please the audience. Deborah began playing the string bass in high school because she was up for a challenge and she already knew how to play the electrical guitar. Besides her musical interests, Deborah enjoys spending time at church and with her cell group.

2. TALENTS ON DISPLAY

Showing off their semester of hard work at the Autumn Winds concert is the flute quartet, composed of sophomore Jennifer Richardson, junior Michelle Olson, and seniors Jenny Mulvihill and Marianne Beeler. Each flautist spent countless hours in practice each week. It paid off when Jennifer, Marianne, and Michelle all won the opportunity to perform in a Master Class with flute professional James Galway at Orchestra Hall this fall.

3. FREELOADING

The Jazz Combo "gets down" with "Freddy the Freeloader," an arrangement they created themselves. This group was formed by many talented jazz enthusiasts who enjoy the flexibility and close feeling a small group provides.

4. CONFIDENCE BUILDER

The Brass Quintet plays Dixieland style on "Tuba Tiger Rag." This group is composed of freshman Megan Nyffeler, junior Jim Wilcox, senior Nate Statezni, and sophomores Andy Bohnsack, and Diana Boe. Megan plays the french horn and has found the need to develop her confidence while playing with this small ensemble. She has to push herself harder and she finds it takes more guts for her to play because her part is more exposed than when playing with a large band.

ENSEMBLE PERFORMANCES

CHRISTMAS AT

1. A LARGER COMMUNITY

Joining the Chamber Orchestra in concert is Nathan Wilson on violin. Nathan attended a nearby community college, but he wanted to get involved with a local musical ensemble. Northwestern gave him just that opportunity this year.

2. WORSHIPPING IN UNITY

The Women's Chorale members share Christmas melodies at the annual Christmas tradition in Maranatha Auditorium. Junior Stephanie Peter who enjoys Women's Chorale because she is "challenged musically" and likes "bonding with other women," appreciates Christmas at Northwestern because it is a "unified worship experience."

3. DIRECTED WORSHIP.

The processional, led by the college choir, directed the audience into a time of worship of their Lord. Freshman Ryan Lang and sophomore Ty Thorne had just left their "pep rally" in Naz Chapel, where they had time to warm up, sing, pray, and reflect on the message of the performance. This time of preparation allowed the meaning of the presentation to sink in.

4. IT'S A FIESTA

The handbell choir entertained the audience with a prelude in the foyer, and then played two numbers in the concert itself, including a duet with the percussion entitled "A Christmas Fiesta." The members of this ensemble were varied in talent and interest. However, they all agreed that they enjoyed the personal attention from the director and the close friendships they acquired as a result of being in this small group.

NORTHWESTERN

THE HEAVENS ARE TELLING HIS GLORY.

The Chamber Orchestra, including cellist, sophomore Jen Kaus, played two songs and accompanied the vocal groups throughout the evening. Many of the evening's musical pieces centered around creation, both the original creation and our new creation in Christ.

MY EARS CAN HEAR, BUT MY EYES CANNOT SEE.

The bells are ringing and voices singing as sophomore Jaime Hanson and the handbell choir concentrate on playing their own parts. Jaime's favorite memory was listening to all the ensembles during the practices and performances. However, the handbell choir was placed behind the Christmas performances during the weekend performances because of overcrowding, so she never actually saw the final event.

3. IN CHRIST, A NEW CREATION

The college choir women proceed toward the stage, led by senior Heidi Sogge. Heidi commented that every year the concert's theme has impacted her in exactly the way she needed to be impacted. She imagines it has impacted the audience in a very similar fashion.

4. POOR REFLECTION

Performing with the Varsity Men's Chorus for a packed audience at Christmas at Northwestern, sophomore Damian Waite looks forward to the combined performances with all the choirs and bands. This group practiced many hours to prepare, and basically sacrificed all their time the week before the big event. Waite said he didn't enjoy all the rehearsals, simply because "the end result does not reflect truly what we went through."

MEMORIES OF SPAIN

Following a week of finals in May 2000, the Symphonic Band packed up and headed to Spain and Portugal, where they spent two weeks playing concerts, sightseeing, and experiencing another culture. They visited several cities, including Madrid, Seville, Granada, and Lisbon, performing concerts nearly every day in churches, cathedrals, and out by the bay. Junior Liz Mueller, whose memories include seeing architecture in Madrid, visiting the Hard Rock Cafe, and riding in a subway, recalls her favorite memory as "seeing how big God is. He really meets you where you're at."

Sophomore Laura Hendrickson's favorite memory was a concert held in an open courtyard in Trujillo, a small village. "We raised money for the Mozambique flood victims," she explains.

The group returned home in time for the second session of summer school. Laughingly, Mueller shares another favorite memory: "The plane from New Jersey to Minneapolis was overbooked by one person, so I got to ride home in first class!"

HANDBELL CHOIR

WADE SCHROEDER

Practicing in the band room is junior Wade Schroeder. Wade and the other members of the Jazz Band had multiple opportunities to play with professional musicians this year. It gave them exposure to some of their very own heroes.

MUSICAL EXPRESSION

Sophomore Jesse Peterson practices on the drum set during rehearsal for Jazz Band. The Jazz Band allowed musicians to express themselves in a different manner than other ensembles. This group wasn't as formal as other groups and simply had more fun!

MEANINGFUL EXPERIENCE.

Rehearsing in the choir room is the Varsity Men's Chorus. Freshman Sam Ternberg enjoyed this group, especially the Christmas season. For him, it was the most meaningful experience of the year. He was amazed to see everything pulled together by God's grace.

MALE BONDING EXPERIENCE.

Spending time singing together are the guys of Men's Chorus, including sophomore David Olson. For these guys, the best part of rehearsal is that guys can be guys. They have a special bonding time together that no female can interrupt, and most of them like it that way.

WOMEN'S CHORALE

PRAYER TO OUR LORD

These vocalists sing to their Lord while preparing for Christmas at Northwestern. They began each rehearsal by dedicating it to the Lord through the repetition of a simple prayer: "Bless us oh Lord, your servants who work in this place. What we sing with our lips may we believe in our hearts, and what we believe in our hearts may we show forth in our lives through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen."

ONE VOICE.

Practicing in the carousel for an upcoming concert, the freshman Traci Tepley and junior Angela Brasser of the Women's Chorale. Angela cherished the group's tough rehearsals, their time together, and their close friendships. Mostly she cherished the fact that they could bring together a very diverse group to become one voice singing to the Lord.

MEMORIES OF ROMANIA

Some College Choir members returned early in August from their summer breaks to spend three weeks touring Romania. Once there, they performed concerts once or twice daily. Traveling in a tour bus and staying with Romanian nationals in their homes, the group visited various cities, including Cluj and Arad.

Sophomore Courtney Glenny noticed the Romanian's faith amidst persecution: "Their Christianity is so much more alive than ours," she said, noting that they were not as absorbed by material belongings as Americans are.

After three weeks of touring, the group returned home exhausted. That is, everyone returned home but Courtney and junior Ricky Frith. When Courtney's passport disappeared after an hour of shopping, they realized she would be unable to leave the country. Ricky volunteered to stay behind and help her make arrangements. With only some money and a few belongings, Courtney and Ricky knew they needed to rely on God. It wasn't long before a translator was helping out and a local seminary offered them a place to stay. The two remaining travelers were on their way home the next day. Courtney looks back on that experience, as well as the rest of the trip, and realizes, "God is so gracious."

FLYING AND SINGING

This group of fifteen singing missionaries, mostly choir members, awaits their next flight out of Amsterdam. This was one flight that the entire group was aboard!

CHEERLEADING

Leslie Mueller, Lauren Quintus, Northwestern's mascot the infamous eagle, and Rebecca Seely relax on the sidelines in between cheers.

Cheering loud is the key to succeeding in drawing in the crowd. Lauren Quintus, Rebecca Seely, Takara Spaulding, and Tabitha Underbakke cheer with all their might.

Jumps and tosses in cheerleading are the attention getter. Lots of practice pays off when the crowd cheers.

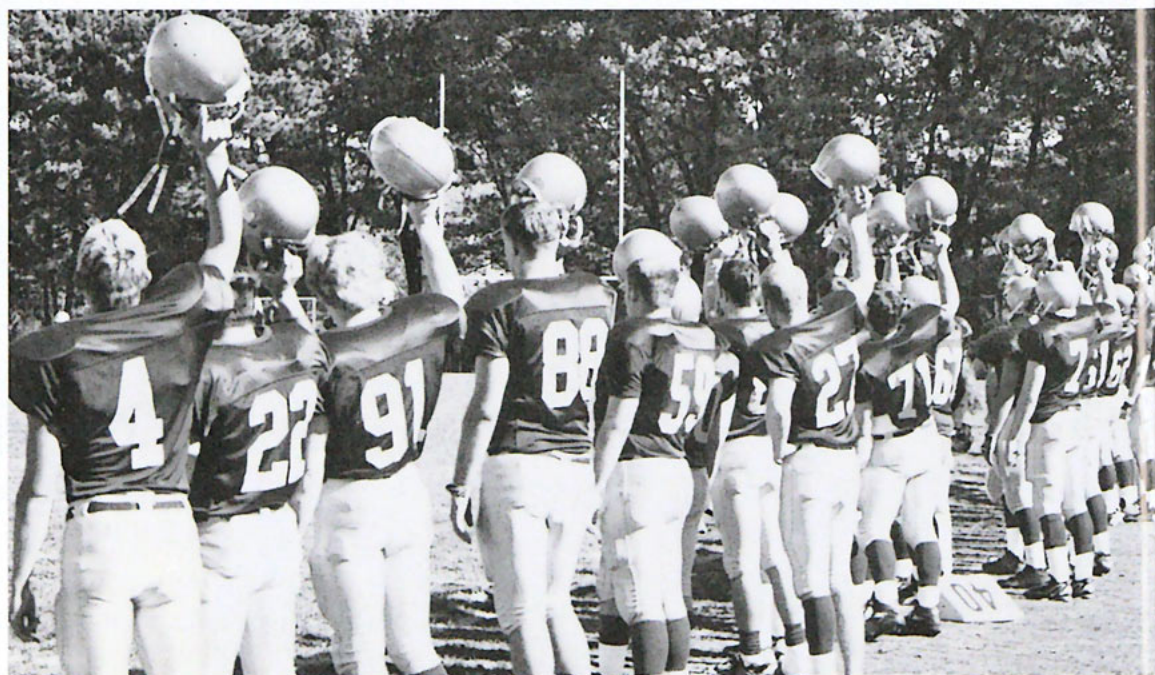

The girls on the squad group together and perform a cheer.

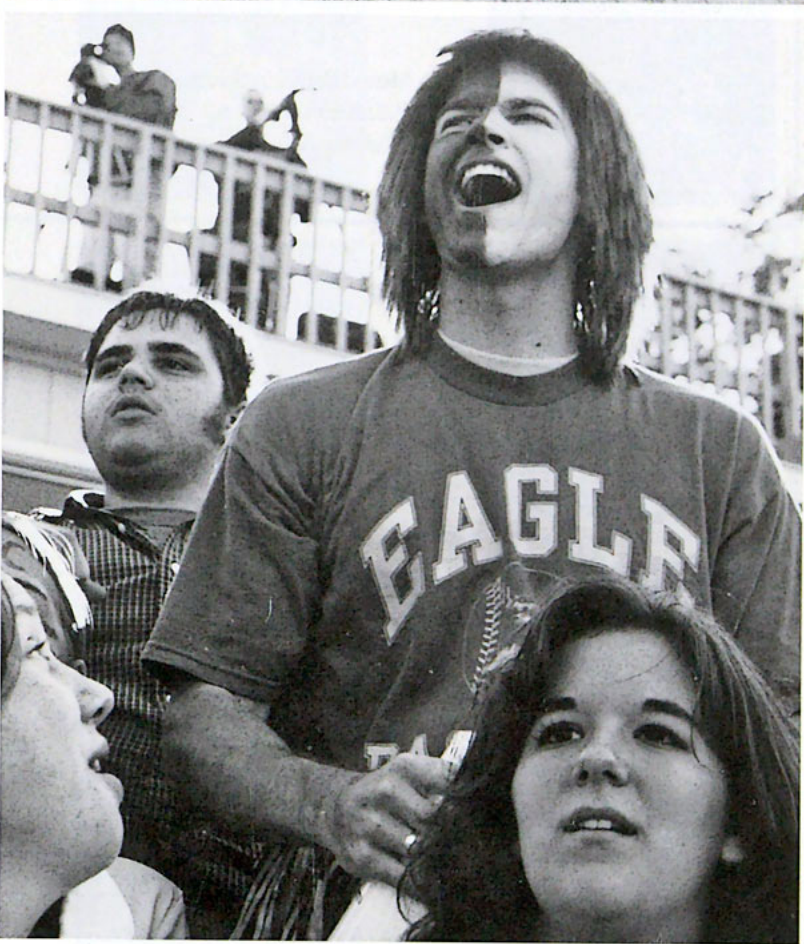

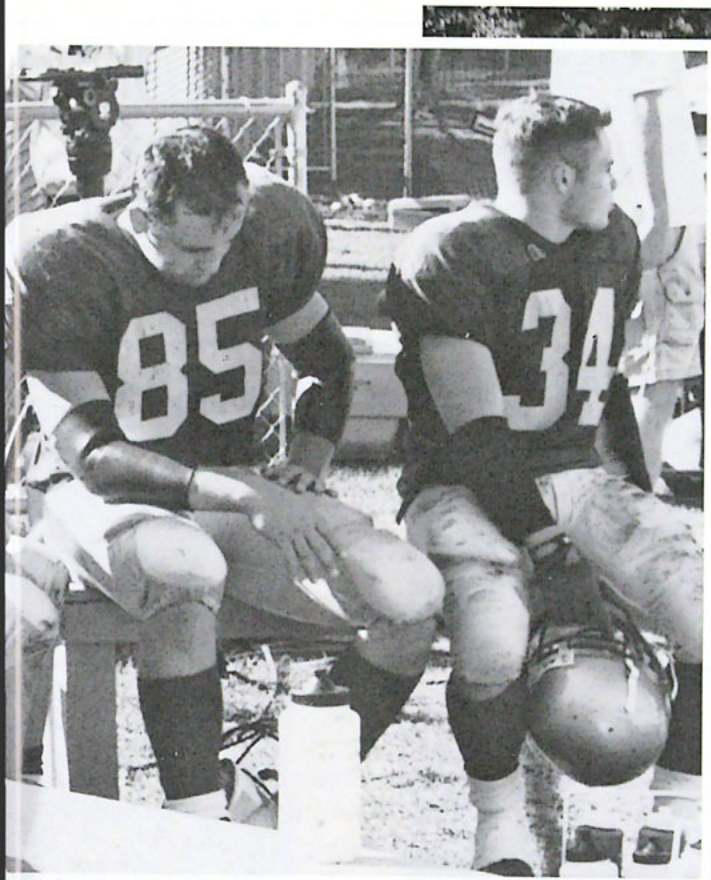

A highlight of this years' squad's cheers is the triangle push-ups formation.

 We are so proud of you.
 Love and prayers,
 Dad, Mom, Andy, Heather,
 Sara, and Jon

Dianna Upham

You are a blessing and a delight.
 We thank God for you.
 We love you.
 Dad, Mom, Sherri, and Kristy

Marrah Wallace

Your family is so proud of you! Your excellence shows in everything you do... You deserve to relax, (ride horses)!

Tara Weimer

Dear Tara,
 Since your first day of school
 you've been making "history".
 We're proud of you!
 Love,
 Mom and Dad

Kristi Welch

Kristi,
 Your faith has always been an inspiration. Congratulations!
 We are so proud of you!
 Love,
 Dad, Mom, Tonya,
 Brian, and Austin

Jessie Welsh

Congratulations on four years of hard work! We are all proud of you!
 Love,
 Dad, Mom, Beth, Michael,
 JoJo, and Nemo

Jayme Woehl

So proud of you!
 Continue to follow your dreams.
 Pray that God will guide you in important decisions ahead.
 Love,
 Mom

Elizabeth Detrick

You have made us proud, our loving daughter and living example of the fruit of the spirit.
 We pray God's richest
 blessings for you.
 Love Dad and Mom

"THE SCROLL" STAFF THANKS
 THE PARENTS OF THE 2001
 GRADUATING CLASS.

BEFORE

QUITE A PAIR.

Taking the daring jump into the frozen waters are sophomores Andy Olson and Kory Capps. Doing their best to look alike in vests, even drawn-on ones, shorts, and boots, these two men joined several other daredevils and took on the icy water. The sane ones, including Lenny the lunch man, were content to remain in their parkas and away from the water's edge.

AND NEXT UP . . .

Announcing the Polar Bear Plunge is the Snowman, senior Neil Best. Neil and senior Jobanna Buch were elected at the beginning of Snow Week to represent the student body. They gave chapel announcements about the week's events and then hosted them.

SNOW WEEK

TWISTER TOURNAMENT

DURING

FROM THE JUDGE'S PERSPECTIVE.

Nominated as a judge, senior Kevin Johnson watches the Twister participants to be sure there is no cheating, and to determine when someone is out. Riley Gym was filled with several participants, as well as those who wanted to observe the action. The Twister Tournament, along with the Medallion Hunt and Polar Bear Plunge, was a great way to enjoy the snow and ice during Snow Week.

DAY OF P R A Y E R & S E R V I C E

ABOVE: Not everything on the day of prayer and service is work. These two participants are taking a little time off to see the world from a little different perspective.

FAR RIGHT: Students are "packed" onto busses for transportation to the service sites.

TOP CENTER: Senior Jeremiah Fillion uses his muscles to rake a few leaves.

CENTER: The sanctuary at Bethel Lutheran Church captures what the day of prayer and service is all about. Before heading out to the service sites, students spent the morning praying with each other in small groups and as a corporate body.

RIGHT: Dean of Commuter Life Jeff Snyder makes sure nobody misses the bus. It wasn't an easy job but so far no parents have called to complain of lost students.

RIO BRAVO

NEW ORLEANS

ENSENADA

The nine teams this spring break were sent with their own mission to do, but they all shared the same goals--to show people Christ and to serve.

VARIETY SHOW

Above: YOU'RE OUT!

The catcher, senior captain Ben Bakeberg, catches the ball to tag out the Crown runner at home plate. The Eagles won against Crown during both of their games this year.

Right: I THINK I CAN!

Trying to catch a ball in mid-air is freshman infielder Zach Gahm. Such displays of athletic ability and enthusiasm weren't uncommon when the Eagles were on the field.

STRIKE THREE - YOU'RE OUT!

Junior Nate Crabtree throws toward homeplate, hoping this is another strike. The team was never short for pitchers; they had eleven on their roster this year.

Coach Moline offers encouragement and direction to the team between innings.

Above Right: NOW THAT'S PITCHING!

Sophomore Sarah Alberhasky, the Eagles ace pitcher, kept her opponents batting average at an unbelievable .20. Adding to her accomplishments were 109 strikeouts!

Far Right: THE INFIELD HUDDLES...

The Eagles defense was found tough to crack by many of the opponents who faced it. Most memorable was the game with St. Scholastica at the UMAC Tournament in Duluth.

Right: AND SHE'S OFF!!

Sophomore Erica Dabelow awaits her turn to run the bases. Erica also proved to be a tough opponent on defense with 127 put outs at first base.

LOOK AT IT GO!

Throwing the shotput for the women's team at Nationals is sophomore Renae Isakson. This was her second trip to Nationals in Cedarville, Ohio. She was the only woman shotput thrower representing Northwestern.

ROUNDING THE CURVE.

Coming around the curve in the 400 meter race is junior Chad Thompson. Chad has been to Nationals before, but this year he added to his victories by setting a new record at Northwestern for the 400 meter event.

FASTER, FASTER!

Trying to pick up speed as he prepares to jump is sophomore Jon Peterson. He was a well-rounded athlete, participating in both track and football.

T E N N I S

PLAYING TENNIS IN WINTER.

A member of the team returns the service during practice. The tennis season was shortened because of the extended winter season, allowing the men fewer chances to play in matches. This hurt their team record, but not their team spirit.

WAITING IN ANTICIPATION.

Anticipating the next serve is junior Jaci Werner. Jaci was a new player to the team this year, but she brought a great deal of enthusiasm with her.

HELPING OUT THE TEAM.

Practicing on one of the few surfaces not covered with late spring snow is junior captain Tony Rice. Tony was one of the few experienced men on the team, and he proved to be a very valuable asset to them.

Resident Assistants

Graduation 2001

YES, I AM EXCITED TO BE DONE!

Elementary education major Calli Nystuen grins as she waits on the sidewalk. The elementary education majors spent many hours in method classes and inside the classroom during their four years here. You could find many of them spending their spare time with children or doing child-like activities. It helped to keep them young!

A FEW FINAL TOUCHES.

Putting on some last minute makeup and finishing her lunch is elementary education major Emily Mieling. Riley Gym was the central gathering place for graduation. Many graduates scurried around it finding their friends, fixing their gowns, and decorating their caps. Finally, the real celebration began as they marched from Riley to the Erickson Center.

WE'RE ALMOST IN!

The business and finance majors wait patiently outside for the graduation ceremony to start. It was a beautiful day, and the graduates took advantage of enjoying the cool weather before entering the sauna in the gym. Some friends and family also waited outside so they could take final pictures and videos of their favorite graduate.

A PACKED HOUSE.

This is the final moment the class of 2001 will be together. For many students, this was an emotional time. Most felt at least some excitement, but there were as many tears as laughs shared among the graduates.

A GREAT REASON TO SMILE.

Graduate Kathy Dow has many reasons to celebrate her years at Northwestern. Not only did she graduate with a double major in only four years, but she was involved in NWSA and got engaged to sophomore Ben Stewart. She looked forward to getting married this summer.

HIS FINAL ADDRESS BEFORE THE STUDENT BODY.

Finance graduate Paul Larson ended his three years here by speaking one last time to his graduating class. Paul was a busy man at Northwestern: he was NWSA president, a trumpet player in Symphonic Band and Extension Ministries, and a dedicated student. His leadership and nice-guy attitude will be missed around here.

GETTING HIS DIPLOMA?

Graduating art major waits for Andy Simpson to call his name. The graduates walked across the stage and shook President Ericksen's hand, depositing many objects in it (gum, candy, money, etc.). They received a package resembling a diploma, but the truth is they were mailed out days later, after the Registrar's Office processed grades.

AN EMOTIONAL DAY.

Graphic Design majors Sarah Porter and Melissa Titrud join their fellow graduates and audience in singing their class hymn. These last moments brought tears to many eyes.
